

Lessons learned from participation in the European Rocketry Challenge 2025 competition

ŁAPIŃSKA Eliza^{1,a,*}, KASPERSKI Patryk^{1,b}, KRUPA Szymon^{1,c}, MICHNA Remigiusz^{1,d}, ORZEŁ Przemysław^{1,e}, SZALKOWSKI Korneliusz^{1,f}
and SOCHACKI Mateusz^{2,g}

¹Students' Space Association, Faculty of Power and Aeronautical Engineering, Warsaw University of Technology, Nowowiejska 21/25, Warsaw, Poland

²Faculty of Power and Aeronautical Engineering, Warsaw University of Technology, Nowowiejska 21/25, Warsaw, Poland

^aeliza.lapinska.stud@pw.edu.pl, ^bpatryk.kasperski.stud@pw.edu.pl, ^cszymon.krupa3.stud@pw.edu.pl, ^dremigiusz.michna.stud@pw.edu.pl,
^eprzemyslaw.orzel.stud@pw.edu.pl, ^fkorneliusz.szalkowski.stud@pw.edu.pl, ^gmateusz.sochacki@pw.edu.pl

Keywords: aerospace, rocketry competitions, students' projects.

Abstract. This paper summarises the experience of the Students' Space Association (SKA) from the Warsaw University of Technology during their participation in the European Rocketry Challenge 2025, highlighting key technical, organisational, and logistical challenges. It also focuses on deriving conclusions and formulating recommendations based on lessons learned from operating in a competition environment under constraints of limited time and resources.